

Are You Ready to Master Leadership in the 21st Century?

By joining a Conscious Leader Roundtable, you'll have the opportunity to discover new ways to lead, while also becoming keenly and deeply aware of yourself, your surroundings and your impact on the world.

Together we explore questions like:

- How can I evolve as a conscious-minded leader in the 21st Century?
- In a competitive environment, how can collaboration be effective?
- In this period of rapid change, how do I lead calmly, gracefully and consciously?
- What role does intuition play in my success?

"In the 21st century we must navigate the business reality differently. We must learn a new way of leading—consciously. That can be a lonely path. The power of the Roundtables is that we tap into the wisdom and experience of our executive peers, gaining a new perspective outside our own reality and a sounding board to help us look at new ideas, make better decisions, and get clarity on our challenges through honest feedback."

Conscious Leader Roundtables

What You Can Expect

Conscious Leader Roundtables consist of eight to ten C-level executives who are on the leading edge of business leadership through their awareness, integrity, transparency, and genuine empowerment of everyone in their organization. Participants meet monthly in a safe, confidential, non-competitive environment to talk about succeeding in the changing business world, share ideas, receive honest feedback, and support each other's businesses and personal growth. Meetings are led by professional facilitators and last approximately four hours.

"The group offers tremendous power in thinking, concrete suggestions and honest critique, all wrapped in a positive spirit that's extremely motivating. It's had a huge impact on me personally and that impact has rippled out to many constituents of my business."

—Bruce Polkes, President & Co-Founder, IntellaCar

"Some of the most powerful and successful business decisions of my career have been made through presenting the issues to my group and learning from their experience, resources and outcomes... This group is invaluable to me."

—Phil Beakes, CEO, Peregrine Insight Group

Valuable Time Well-Invested

Conscious Leader Roundtable members consistently report that the value they receive far surpasses both their expectations and the time and financial commitment of participation. Imagine having the opportunity to:

- Fine-tune your ideas and business initiatives BEFORE you present or implement them
- Share your most personal challenges that cannot be aired in your own business environment in a safe, confidential, supportive group setting
- Access ideas, inspiration and brainstorming with intelligent, conscious-minded professionals who have hundreds of years of collective experience
- Receive maximum benefit and value delivered at every meeting as a result of professional and experienced group facilitation
